If the People Knew How

Audience to shed tears. It takes something to make the Germans shed tears after the Kaiser war.

Some of our people will shed tears also. Those in Washington that have brain enough should find out exactly what gas the professor means, and act on it. We need it not for attack, which is not in our line, but for defense and if necessary for retribution.

This nation should have airships submarines, fast cruisers and every possible war device, and say to the Germans: Keep away from us if you are wise. We can destroy you here in America, and destroy you where you live.

grower, undertakes the planting of 10,000,000 acres of Russian land with wheat and flax.

Planting 10,000,000 acres under government supervision would be new. Instead of government helping the farmer it would be a case of the farmer helping the government.

The Russian enterprise would call for $100,000,000 worth of American agricultural machinery, interesting to

Marion-Made Products to Appear Prominently in National Show Displays

At Least Five Local Factories Scheduled To Have Exhibits at Cleveland This Month, New Machines Included Among Features

Marion-made products will be displayed before representatives of every section of the United States at the National Road show, which is open in the Cleveland Public auditorium Jan. 14. For the second consecutive year the show is being held in Cleveland.

At least five Marion plants will display their products at the show.
Included in the list are the Marion Steam Shovel Co., the Huber Manufacturing Co., the General Excavator Co., the Osgood Co. and the Marion Steel Body Co. All displays will be of products used in construction of roads.

The Marion Steam Shovel Co. will have a display consisting of one Diesel power model and one four yard shovel and the upper frame of a gasoline electric shovel of the same size. The display will be supplemented with panel displays and pictures.

The Shovel Co. will send a good sized delegation of officials and employees to the show. It is also expected that many attending the show will come here during the week to visit the local plant.

The Conquest line of road machinery, the product of the Osgood Co., consisting of the Commander, the Conqueror and the Victor excavators will be another Marion display at the show. The Commander is the latest addition to the line of the Osgood company and is to make its first appearance at a road show.

The new Osgood model is said to be completely new in design. It has two speeds in both driving and travel, a new means of steering for the continuous tread track and is controlled entirely from the upper body.

The Osgood's conquest line is electrically or gasoline operated.
Two of the Huber company's road machines will constitute the display of that concern. The five and ten ton models will be shown, factory officials said today. The five ton machine will be equipped with blade and scrapper.

The General Excavator Co. will put on display a machine that can be changed with little difficulty from

Amnesia Victim, Still Unidentified, Taken to County Home

Sheriff James A. Deal's mystery man who has been in the county jail the last two weeks, has been removed to the county home. All efforts of the sheriff to locate the home and relatives of the man have been fruitless.

The man a victim of amnesia had been lodged in county jail since he was applied to the sheriff for and two weeks ago today. Although the sheriff has called the mail newspapers and radio to his aid in the search for relatives of the man he has met with no success.

A letter received by Sheriff Deal today showed indications of leading to the discovery of the stranger's relatives but it may prove as groundless as have many other promises, clues in the last two weeks. The sheriff received a letter in regard to the stranger from Mrs. Earl Jamison of Logansport, Ind. According to the letter Mrs. Jamison's father left her home a year ago last September for an Iowa city but was never heard from after leaving Logansport.

A picture in a Des Moines Ia. newspaper which had been turned over by Sheriff Deal led Mrs. Jamison to believe that the man held here might be her father. Her description resembles in some particulars those of the mystery man.

REPRIEVE AT LAST MINUTE SAVES COUPLE

Governor Long Acts for Third Time in Day; Postpones Execution

RUNS INTO LEGAL MESS
Executive Had Previously Withdrawn Reprieve in LeBouef Dreher Case

FRANKLIN, La., Jan. 5.—Taking his third action in the matter since midnight Gov. Huey P. Long today deliberately stayed the execution of Mrs. LeBouef Dreher and her lover Dr. L. N. Dreher who were in the hug at noon for conspiracy in the murder of the woman's husband James L. LeBouef.

Governor Long telephoned Sheriff Preston here that he had been informed by the district attorney reversing the decision until next Saturday. This was after he had already given a reprieve and executed it.

Meanwhile the hangman that had been employed had returned to New Orleans after the governor had telephoned the first time granting the reprieve.

Sheriff Preston had previously asked Attorney General Percé Slat what the order of Chief Justice O'Neill was last night staying the execution to be effective, or whether he should act on the dissenting advice of four other supreme court justices and go ahead with the execution.

The last minute postponement of the hanging, now following a reprieve that had been granted by the governor, has caused the sheriff to delay the execution until further notice.

This came as the climax of the most dramatic episode in Louisiana

SKULL FRACTURED BUT HE SAVES HIS EGGS

CINCINNATI, Jan. 5.—A desire to ride on a passing truck resulted in James Becker, 21, being injured in a hospital here today.

Becker was enroute home from a brother's residence when he decided that the vehicle would be a likely means of transportation for himself and the basket of eggs he carried.
Several seconds after he leaped the egg of the truck a sudden jar threw him to the street. His head struck a curbstone and he suffered a possible skull fracture. The basket of eggs remained intact although Becker had held the fragile articles during his fall.

UNLOADED GUN FATAL

gun in the hands of Carl Kniffm cidentally discharged while the boy was attempting to ascertain if the weapon

DISCOVER ASHES IN HOME OF WITNESS

Orville Officials Turn Find Over to Wooster College for Analysis

ORVILLE, Jan. 5.—Where what appeared to be human bones which Prosecutor Walter J. Mouser said were found in the basement of the home of Elmer Arnold one of the persons held in connection with the slaying of a year old Melvin Horst will be turned over to the chemistry department of Wooster college for analysis, it was learned today.

In their first public interview since their arrest last Wednesday Arnold and two sons William and Arthur and his daughter Mrs. Dorothy McHenry last night declared their innocence of any part in the disappearance of the boy. They maintained that the cause for all of the difficulties in the past was the ill will of Marshall Ray Horst of Orville, uncle of the missing boy.

McHenry has maintained that he never saw his nephew Arnold or his children of the law. Captain J. H. Rose, of the O. R. R. police force, charged that McHenry was convinced in Cleveland in December 1922 of operating a fake employment agency.

Charles Hanna, father of Junior Hanna, 8, playmate of Melvin Horst, is reported to have contradicted the son's story to the effect that he had seen the missing boy, enticed by two men.

A black and white illustration of a vintage car, likely a Ford Model A, parked on a street. A large crowd of people, including men and women in period clothing, are gathered around the car, looking at it with interest. Some are standing in front, while others are inside the car. To the left of the car, there is a large, octagonal sign with a thick border. The sign contains the text 'Greater Beauty', 'Larger Bodies', 'Acclaimed', and 'Everywhere!' in a bold, sans-serif font. The background shows a simple street scene with a building on the left and some foliage on the right. The overall style is that of a classic advertisement from the early 20th century.

Tragedy and Pathos Blend in Morning Arraignment Scene in Marion's Court

BY JAMES L. BENICK
Marion Star Staff Writer

When a popular song, entitled "Crossroads," something about the "crossroads of life," was the title of this song, it was brought to mind that in Marion's municipal court every morning.

There may find tragedy blending with pathos there—where the crossroads of life meet, and where there are usually as many types as there are people present. That part of life about which the smart citizen knows nothing appears practically every morning in its threadbare and shabby clothing.

There is an atmosphere of back-yards, box-cars, bootleg whiskey and dirty gals. And the ever present and nauseating odor of disinfectant.

Half an hour before court convenes the hangers-on start to arrive and find seats—back of the railing. The room is hot and musty. Policemen come and go. There is a shuffling of feet and from the cells in the rear room there emerges a sullen line of men and—sometimes women. They have spent the night, or part of the night, in the lockup.

The judge bustles in. Then the clerk. There is a hush. A book opens and a name is called. Court opens without any formality. Let's get down to business and get out of here, seems to be the thought back of every move, yet great patience is used all during the session.

The defendant stands before the judge. He's at the crossroads. The witness, if there are any, is seated on a little raised platform. The railing around the witness box has long ago disappeared.

The walls are dingy. It seems that even they are sick of what they have seen and heard.

The judge reads off a name. From the crowd steps forth a man. He is dirty. His face is stupid. The charge is read.

"You are charged with drunkenness," intones the court, "guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty," says the prisoner. "Your honor, I—"

"Ten and costs," remarks the judge. "Next."

The bailiff snaps his fingers, and the prisoner is taken away to the back-room again.

And the court moves on. Half a minute to a case, sometimes. Frequently no more than a minute. In this way the provious night's "haul" has been cleaned up. Some have pleaded not guilty and their cases will be heard at a later date. The crossroads is still in front of them.

In half an hour the docket has been wiped clean.

Some have been there for the first time. And some of them are familiar figures. In fact, almost as familiar as the court at times. Each has his little innings with justice.

And the wheels move on. The world doesn't pause long to take account of the misdeeds and misfortunes of these unlucky ones who have selected the wrong cross road of life.

INSTALLATION HELD

New Corps of Carmen's Officers Begins Duties

Eric Lodge No. 1008, Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, installed Glenn Kellogg as president for the coming year at a meeting held Wednesday night at Central Labor Union Hall, South Main st. Other officers installed were: Robert Elliott, vice president; R. H. Patterson, recording secretary; Hayes Maynard, financial secretary; B. F. Hilger, treasurer.

Three applications for membership were received and one candidate initiated.

SLOW START

Only One Building Permit Issued in First Week of Year

The new year started in slowly as far as building activities in Marion are concerned. Only one building permit was issued last week by S. H. Keller, city clerk. This was for the erection of a $75 garage on West Columbia st.

Real estate men and contractors explained that this is the off season for building. Activity in that line will not get well under way until the first of March, they say.

Program of Track Work Is Planned for Railroads Serving Marion District

Use of New 130-Pound Rail Included in Construction Plans; Steel Mills Busy Filling Orders for Heavier Tracks, Which Makes Faster Train Service Possible

The Marion section of the Pennsylvania railroad is expecting to start work on its 1923 rail laying program soon, according to plans outlined at this time.

About 27 miles of 130-pound rail has been received but no word has been received yet as the date of shipment to the local yards. Improvement on track in this division is scheduled for intervals between Columbus and Bucyrus. Also a three-mile siding at the Roxanna Petroleum Co. station in the south side of the city is being planned.

Plans for improving the Center st. crossing are being formulated but are not yet complete.

Practically all of the roads passing through Marion have started planning for their track repair work and programs are being mapped out by most of the maintenance-of-way departments. The Hocking Valley has already received the first part of the new track for its winter and spring programs, while the local division of the Erie will delay start on track work until the spring season, officials state.

The 130-pound rail being purchased by practically all the railroads that intend doing repair work this season is heavier than the rail now used on most of the tracks of roads running through Marion. The main reason for popularity of the heavier rail is that it makes greater speed of trains possible. Statistics now available reveal that the speed of the trains on some of the roads will increase nearly 50 per cent by the use of the new and heavier rail.

The Pennsylvania ultimately plans to do away with all the 100 and 85-pound rail now in use in their Ohio tracks, local representatives of the road say. However, due to the excessive demand being made on the steel mills by railroads for the heavier rails it is doubtful whether a large supply of the new rails will be available in the near future.

Steel mills all over the country are working extra in an attempt to supply the demand, but for every piece they put out about two new orders are received, railway officials say.

Excursion Sunday

There will be an excursion to Cleveland and return on Sunday, Jan. 6 on the Big Four railroad. The train will leave Marion at 4:55 o'clock in the morning and will leave Cleveland at 8:15 p. m., arriving here about 5:30. It was announced today at the Union station.

Railway Briefs

Paul Howard Loeber, second ticket clerk at the Union station, spent the New Year holidays in Sandusky.

T. McElmough, foreman of bridges and buildings on the Hocking Valley, was in Marion yesterday on business. Mr. McElmough has headquarters in Columbus.

R. V. Steffen, travelling freight and passenger agent for the Chicago & Great Western railroad in Cleveland, was in Marion on business yesterday.

Daily Proverb—"In taking revenge a man is but even with his enemy, but in passing it over he is superior."

In his message to the Michigan general assembly, Thursday, Governor Green urged that state's life-for-death law be eased.
It should be eased.

Judging by all this talk about a Nicaraguan canal, there must be some who aren't wholly convinced that flying machines will soon drive ships off the seas.

Twenty-five productions more are to be withdrawn within the next ten days from New York stages. Stage fifth seems to have deadened the appetite of New York even for decent plays.

Far be it from desire on our part to question the excellence of the motive of Mr.
Hearst in offering a prize of $25,000 for the best plan to replace the dry law with "a real temperance measure," but it's a clinch the contest will not do material injury to the circulation of his strong papers.

Jay-riders steal West New York's $7,000 patrol wagon and a motorist kidnaps and beats up a Washington officer directing traffic in the heart of the national capital. It's a shame the way people the land over are treating the poor, helpless police.

An air mail plane established a new mark for the Chicago-Dallas route, this week, making the 977 mile route in six hours and twenty-three minutes, beating the record made last week by twenty-three minutes.
But what do twenty-three minutes saved amount to anyway at this season of the year when the burden of the average business letter is "please remit!"

The Democratic national committee reports that it expended $3,122,549 in the hope of electing Governor Smith to the presidency.
That, with the $6,256,110 expended to elect Mr. Hoover, makes the total cost of electing a president $11,028,459, or $2,899, 412.75 a year for four years, without considering the primary costs. Politics seems to be keeping right in step with the high cost of living.

The Gilbert Report.

The cables tell us that Germany is greatly depressed and France correspondingly elated over the report of Agent General Seymour Parker Gilbert for the fourth reparations annual year which paints a highly complimentary picture of Germany's entire economic life.

Agent General Gilbert lauds Germany's punctilious payments of all sums due on her reparations account and holds that she is now a going concern capable of meeting all future payments, and he praises the manner in which the German people have placed the product of their science, skill and labor at the disposal of the creditor nations in their effort to meet the obligations incurred by them as a result of the war.

Coming as it did in advance of the negotiations for a revision of the Dawes plan, Germany naturally feels that the Gilbert report will prevent the softening of the terms for which she hoped, and it will require some very forceful showings, on her part to counteract and overcome the glowing showing of her condition made by the agent general.

On the other hand, France, ever prone to aqueous the last drop of juice out of what she has been inclined to look upon as something of a financial lemon, is delighted with the announcement of the agent general, that Germany is in such financial condition as to be able to meet the reparations terms as they now stand.

But while Berlin is saddened and Paris re-joices over the Gilbert report, London is astonished, and the British press, at least, holds that both France and Germany have misrepresented their financial conditions. If we get the view of the British press, especially the London press, the British government is coming to the conclusion that the United States manifested the part of wisdom in refusing to consider further reductions of the war debts due her, and it is intimated that the attitude of the London government is likely to be decidedly stiffened at the coming reparations conference.

Hence it may be that the elation of France will prove but temporary for the reason that she will no longer be able to make the poverty plan, and all that she may profit from holding Germany to the present lines will not compensate her for what she hoped to gain, but will not, from Great Britain.

In any event, no matter what she may profit by the Gilbert report will hardly compensate her for the loss she will suffer in the esteem of Great Britain, as she has suffered in the esteem of the United States, for her attitude throughout the entire course of the consideration of war debts.

Government by Lobbies.

It will be interesting to watch the reactions of the members of the United States senate to the attitude of the lobby lobby lobby lobby in Washington this week to secure ratification of the Kellogg pact. The Kellogg pact is a defeat that is known as the Kellogg pact. It is a measure recommended by President Coolidge for the construction of fifteen million in the place of the Kellogg pact.

We have referred to the lobby lobby lobby as a lobby, but it would have been more in accord with fact had we called it an aggregation of lobbies and propaganda agencies.
For it is representative of more causes, of more varied social elements, than any lobby ever assembled in the national capital for the purpose of securing and influencing the law-making branch of our government to bow to its will. The various bodies represented in it have but one idea in common, and that is to combat preparation. They believe that that regard would mean the weakening of our ability as a nation to defend ourselves against aggression from within and without.

Foremost in the aggregation, if Washington dispatches are to be credited, is the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the president of which is Bishop Francis J. McConnell, head of the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church. Then there are representatives of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, etc. of the ten advisory members of which are members of the senate. It includes also representatives of the Washington Council on International Relations, the National Council for the Prevention of War, the Fellowship for Reconciliation, the American Association of University Women, the American Farm Bureau association, the American Federation of Teachers, the National Educational Association and the World Alliance for International Friendship.

Among the organizations represented are also the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, the Consumers' League and the Civil Liberties union. In fact, there are representatives from practically every pacifist organization in the country and also representatives of organizations which have socialistic and communistic backing, and some of the organizations not so backed have played hand in hand with organizations and agencies committed not only to the overthrowing of our form of government, but also to the overthrowing of all government.

We have said that it will be interesting to watch the course of the members of the senate in the face of this aggregation of lobbies and propaganda agencies, for it is time that the American people should know whether there is a representative government by majorities or a government by lobbies representing minorities. It is time that the American people should take stock of the men and women who represent them in the halls of congress and determine whether they are acting as representatives of majority government or the representatives of minorities. The test is in no sense of the word a political test, but wholly a patriotic.

Both the measures of which we have spoken we believe to be worthy ones, and we believe that both should receive the support of the upper house of congress. If they do, well and good. But if the treaty should be defeated by the senate and the cruiser bill be feared that the situation faced by the country is a dangerous one.

We do not mean to hold out herein that all the organizations mentioned are devoid of good intent, although we seriously question the patriotism of some of them, but we do mean that all of them are too greatly swayed by the spirit of pacifism to make their representatives assembled in Washington for the purpose of influencing legislation safe advisers in matters of government policy.

The United States senate was recently referred to as the most cowardly legislative body in existence. It will be well to know whether or no it deserves the name which has been given it.

Hubonic plague is said to be raging in Argentina. In that, possibly, all the world will appreciate the value of sanitation.

There is nothing surprising about the published fact that the American legion of Virginia is wholeheartedly supporting the Coolidge cruiser program. It naturally would it isn't made up of pacifists, communists, anarchists, bolsheviks, disloyalists and other enemies of government.

A Los Angeles wire says that an eighteen-year-old girl of that city remained up in the air Thursday for twelve hours and eleven minutes, establishing a new world record for women. Stud and non-sense! We have known cases where women have been up in the air for weeks at a time.

Three hundred and fifteen more "patriots" have been cut off the Chicago city payroll, making about 1,000 barred from the trough within the last ten days. How can the powers that be expect the minor bosses to deliver their wards if "the boys" are going to be treated like that?

For the first time on record the St. Lawrence river was open all the way from Montreal to Quebec as late as January 3, while on that date there was ice on the tidal basin in Washington. Talking about freak weather conditions, the year, 1929, seems to have started out to make a record all its own.

A Whitewater woman, sent to prison in 1924 for poisoning her husband that he might not interfere with a lustful affair she was carrying on with a boarder, was paroled by the governor of Wisconsin the same day a woman who was convicted of a fourth liquor offense was committed to a Michigan prison to serve out a life sentence without hope of pardon. Such a contrast is a mockery on justice.

LOOK WHO'S HERE.

Old and Young the Victims.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

When we talk about pneumonia we must consider two entirely different conditions. The disease which used to be called "lung fever" is the true pneumonia, known to the medical profession as "lobar pneumonia."

This is an acute infectious disease. That is, it is caused by a definite germ, developing one of another of the "types" of pneumonia. It comes on suddenly. Without the slightest warning, perhaps, there is a chill, together with sharp pain and high fever.

Another disease, "broncho-pneumonia," is entirely different in its nature. It is the extension of an inflammation from the bronchial tubes to the air cells of the lungs.

This form of pneumonia follows another disease, which is bronchitis, as a symptom. For instance, influenza, measles, or whooping cough, will have nasal and throat symptoms. Inflammation of the upper part of the breathing apparatus extends downward into the windpipe and creeps gradually into the lungs.

The lungs may be quite seriously involved before the pneumonia is discovered. The lung trouble is hidden by the more pronounced symptoms of the original ailment.

Instead of coming on suddenly like true pneumonia, the onset is slow. Cough, fever and exhaustion are late symptoms.

In all forms of inflammation of the lungs there is difficult breathing. In broncho-pneumonia this symptom may be very marked.

The breathing is rapid. The fever runs to 103 or 104 degrees and is quite irregular, running up and down. The pulse is rapid.

Pretty soon, the painful cough becomes productive. That is, there will be spitting up of blood-streaked mucus. The face is pale and the lips blue.

In lobar pneumonia, except in the rare double type, only one lung is involved. In broncho-pneumonia, however, both lungs are likely to be affected.

The former trouble is a disease which attacks persons in the prime of life. The most sturdy and bulky may have it.

On the contrary, broncho-pneumonia is a disease more commonly met in the extremes of life. Old, feeble people and young children are usually the victims.

The outcome of this disease depends largely on the general condition. If the patient has been in good physical trim, living a hygienic life, and is well nourished and strong, the outcome is more likely to be favorable.

The disease continues from ten days to three weeks. If it lasts longer, complications must be expected. In any event every case must be given in order that recovery may be rapid.

In any case of pneumonia, no matter what form it takes, it is essential to have the personal care of the family physician. It is foolish to try to "fight it off." Got to bed, keep perfectly quiet and send for the doctor.

The serious cases are those which are neglected in the early stages. Care at that time will shorten the duration of the illness and help to bring about a perfect recovery.—Copyright, 1929,

Progress of Aviation.

At Zurich a German aviator has down upside down for ten minutes 55.45 seconds. It is claimed that this is a world's record.

Plans are already under way for making the 1929 national air races, to be held at Los Angeles, the greatest event in the history of aviation.

Chartering airplane and seaplane, a London man has just made a flight to the island of Guernsey and back within twenty-four hours in order to visit his sick mother.

Prince George, who accompanied his brother the Prince of Wales to Canada, recently journeyed from London to Paris as an ordinary passenger on an Imperial Airways liner.

Four all-metal seaplanes of the latest type are about to make a test flight from England to Australia and return, a distance of 25,000 miles. The machines will travel by way of India, and make a circuit of Australia.

Gas companies in numerous cities are planning to convert the gas containers into bombs to aid aviators to locate their bearings while in flight. The huge tanks will be painted in distinguishing colors and at night will be illuminated by flood lights.

After Fifteen Years.

Fourteen years ago the late Senator La Follette sponsored legislation which directed the Interstate Commerce commission to evaluate all railroad property in the United States. It was his view that original cost was a fair criterion of present value and that rail rates would be reduced if it were accepted as such.

Eight years ago congress passed a law directing the government to re-evaluate its excess profits and rail earnings in excess of six per cent. on a fair valuation of rail property. The appraisal formula prescribed by the commission was not original cost, but what Justice Brandeis has called a prudent investment principle. On that basis the valuation of the railroads of the United States is perhaps $10,000,000,000. On the basis of cost of reproduction now, a basis upheld by the supreme court in public utility cases, their valuation probably would be at least $10,000,000,000 more.

In the St. Louis & O'Fallon case now before the supreme court the question is that of the proper basis for evaluating railroad property. Excess profits recapture is at stake here, but a proper basis of evaluation for that purpose presumably will be accepted as proper basis for rate making also.

In this must be involved literally billions of dollars. Millions of rail earnings accumulated since 1920 are at stake, the government claiming a share of them the roads contending that little or nothing is due because of the commission's improper basis of valuation. But, much more important than these are the rates and earnings to which the road will be entitled in the future. If the railroad's view prevails and cost of reproduction is accepted as a proper basis of valuation rates must be increased. If the court accepts the commission's point of view the present rate structure will continue.

The valuation question involved is much more one of new economic theory than of law. The answer of the supreme court to it will be interesting and important.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Tuesday.
The Quirinal and Vatican were working hand in hand in caring for the Italian earthquake sufferers.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Fultz, residing northwest of Marion.
Manager Charles O'Day of the local Ohio State ball team saw a pennant ahead for Marion. It subsequently developed that what the manager saw was only a mirage.

The outlook for 1929 was bad, owing to the fact that the year opened and would end on Friday.

H. H. Irey was elected president of the new board of Marion county infirmity directors.
The city council was looking for new quarters believing that the $15 rent paid for the use of its quarters in the Huber building was high, especially so as it had to pay out $10 a month for janitor service.

The receipts of the local postoffice for the last quarter of 1928 exceeded by $900 the receipts of the same period the preceding year, and as the business done during the year, exclusive of the money order business, passed the $10,000 mark, Marion retained first-class post-office classification.

There was much bootlegging in the city.
Mrs. Jennie Studebaker, of Decatur, Indiana, and Mr. Chauncey Furman, of Marion, were married at the home of the bride.
The groom was an employee of the Chicago & Erie.

The Tally Wag club members enjoyed their annual dinner at their hall in the McNeal-Woodford block.

F. A. Isille was chosen president of the board of public service.

The police were searching for a porch climber who fired two shots at B. F. Shurz when the latter discovered him trying to break into the Shurz home.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Crosser, of Harrison street, and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Miller, of Wilson avenue.

Mrs. J. F. Fish was elected president of the New York Day by Day.

By O. O. MINTRE.

New York, Jan. 3.—Many of the popular broad dancing stadiums are now under constant surveillance of the police and vice insurgents and their advertising is restricted by respectable newspapers. While some are respectable, a large number are merely salubrary brothels in new dress.

Their cheap and flimsy grandeur makes it appeal to the army of lonely young men and women seeking innocent diversion and thus become traps. The formality of being introduced is unnecessary and the "night" becomes casual.

Hostesses are frequently those agreeable Broadway blondes, smiling of cheek and dressed up with such a comical flourish and who are apartments in the neighborhood of the dance hall and are only a block or so from a likely come-on and "meeting" place at the "corner" afterward.

The patron pays a price which permits him to select a partner in the first place, first second place for each dance and in the third place the songs of seduction are sung. Symptomatic of the latest looking soft drink business is a probable for those supposed to be "right."

A few of the resorts are believed to be deposits for the products and white slave and many disappearing girls who wind up in the basement of the dance hall. While several are in the Broadway region, the larger number thrive on the lower East Side.

They provide an agreeable rendezvous for young men and women who are in the habit of visiting the dance hall. Almost every evening there are gentlemen homeward bound from a banquet who drop in "just for a drink." But when the search for a partner for the "waltz" later, do not find life so allured "Mark's."

The dance halls are not alone in operating such a campaign for vice. There are a number of "night" clubs, which are in the same category. They are all aimed at placing with advertising in such publications as will accept them.

Diamonds have for a time been something of a drug on the market. The craze for modernistic designs in jewelry and a few other laddish innovations brought on a temporary slump. But the little doubt the supply of diamonds, done with such rare artistry lately, had an effect.
They were not such an unattractive symbol of wealth. Style experts say, however, the pendulum is swinging back and diamonds will not only be more popular than ever but much higher priced.

The heaviest prices of diamonds, including the very rare, are people of the stage and movies. Aside from advertising value for stars, it is their way of providing for the rainy day. A diamond usually has a fair market value and may be quickly converted into cash.

Young blades who specialize in trying to appear something that are not, are now as active as ever. Police, in recent aviation triumphs, there is an added halo to the dirt. He has become a sort of modern dandy and the quaintest of the tea rooms and cafes who swains fair and romantic young pulses.
They are glib in recounting experiences and have picked up enough aviation patter to imagine to convince. As a result they are invited to "cock" houses. At a luncheon, one day recently, the hostess had previously learned that five of her intrepid guests were merely romantic clerks. She invited a major from Mitchell field. His polite chatterbox of their air adventures resulted in amusing confusion and two of them left so hurriedly they had to return a little sheepishly later for their overcoats.

Every youth has his period of imitation—

Yet I do not believe a man lives, not even other posed as something he was not. In most cases it is a harmless deception—the giving away to the almost uncontrollable urge we all have to dramatize ourselves. But how we like to laugh at those caught in the act!—Copyright, 1929,

What's in an Eclipse.

By GARRETT P. SERVICE.

What a curious lot we Earth people are!
But our curiosity is mostly to our credit.
It is intellectual and concerns things above the mere animal level. There is certainly something more of us than the biological man explains. Consider, for instance, what is being prepared, simultaneously in many different corners, for the afternoon of next May 9.

At that time the sun will be totally eclipsed. Then will be seen—as has happened many times within the last hundred years—a gathering of astronomers of all nations toward a limited part of the earth's surface from which the eclipse can be viewed.
Their expenditures will represent in the aggregate a large sum of money; their effort will be a notable exertion of human manitude—perhaps as much as is concerned in any preparation and conduct of a great international campaign, or even more.

The object is to see and study again that awe-inspiring and mysterious portion of the sun which the vast majority of the world's inhabitants have never been glimpsed. They aggregate a large sum of money; their effort will be a notable exertion of human man-
itude—perhaps as much as is concerned in

Clara Kimball Young in Person at Palace, "East Is West" at the Grand and "Companionate Marriage" at the Marion—That's Next Week's Program

BY JACK

MARION'S theatrical offerings look pretty appetizing for next week. First of all, there's that well-known actress, both stage and screen, Clara Kimball Young, who will make a personal appearance at the Palace for the first half of the week, Sunday to Wednesday, inclusive.

There will be two other acts and the feature picture is "Ladies of Chance" with Norma Shearer.

The picture for the last half of the week at the Palace is "Women They Talk About" with Irene Rich in the leading role.

EVERY couple days or so one reads about "companionate marriage" of some kind or other. And that's the name of the picture the Marion will project for three days, beginning Sunday. Betty Bronson has the leading role.

Then, Wednesday and Thursday's screen will unfold "My Young Lady," starring Charles Murray, while the Friday and Saturday program will be "Wife-Savers," with Wallace Berry.

ADVANCE news on the Myrtle Ross Players tells of a gorgeous setting that is to be revealed in "East Is West," next week's offering. This is a rather pretentious offering for a stock company and in the play that Fay Halster once did with great success. Miss Ross will be the little Chinese girl. The setting aforementioned is the "love boat."

PLUNGES TO DEATH

Believe Millionaire Lost Balance at Window; Had Been to Clubs

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—A few moments after bidding good night to the young woman with whom he had been going the round of the night clubs, Horace L. Williamson, 65, millionaire vice president of the United States Rubber Co. and colonel on the staff of the governor of Kentucky, plunged to his death early today from a tenth-floor window of the Congress apartment house.

His body, clad in evening clothes, was found in the rear courtyard by John Muzant, superintendent of the exclusive dwelling.

After detectives questioned Williamson's companion, Miss Fru Nunnally, the tragedy was recorded as accidental.

Two pearl shirt studs tossed on a table indicated the millionaire had been preparing for bed when he decided to open the window and lost his balance.

Here's Complete Week's Story of "Thimble Theater"

The comic strip "Thimble Theater" is a multi-panel comic featuring a cast of characters including Whiffle, Bernice, and various other men. The strips are arranged in a 4x6 grid. The dialogue in the strips includes:

- "I HAVE BOTH OF THEM!"
- "I KNEW YOU WOULD SUCCEED, RENA"
- "AND HERE'S THE WHIFFLE HEN—AH—A GENUINE AFRICAN WHIFFLE HEN!"
- "THE MOST VALUABLE BIRD IN THE WORLD. TO ANYONE WHO UNDERSTANDS AND KNOWS HOW TO USE HER STRANGE POWERS"
- "HE'S BEEN UNCONSCIOUS FOR ABOUT FOUR HOURS. FAINTED DEAD AWAY WHEN HE SAW ME—I DO WISH IT WASN'T NECESSARY FOR ME TO WEAR THIS HOOD"
- "I HOPE YOU ENJOY THIS ANGEL FOOD CAKE, BERNICE. I'D FEED YOU DIAMONDS IF YOU WANTED THEM"
- "WHIFFLE"
- "AM, HE HAS COME TO, AT LAST!"
- "WHERE AM I?"
- "WHIFFLE"
- "HELP!! GO 'WAY—YOU BLACK GHOST!"
- "DON'T BE AFRAID I WON'T HURT YOU"
- "SEE I AM ONLY A WOMAN AND I'VE BEEN RUNNING AWAY FROM YOU FOR WEEKS! STICK RIGHT—GEE, YOU'RE SWEET!"
- "GAY, WHAT DO YOU COVER YOURSELF UP LIKE THAT FOR?"
- "IT'S A GOOD DISGUISE"
- "AND ALSO—MY EMPLOYER HAS A GREAT DEAL OF THINKING TO DO—AND I AM SO BEAUTIFUL THAT UNLESS I WEAR THIS HOOD HE CANNOT CONCENTRATE"
- "HA! HA! THAT'S GOOD!"
- "AND NOW, MISTER—I'D BE VERY MUCH OBLIGED IF YOU'LL TELL ME WHY YOU BROUGHT ME AND MY WHIFFLE HEN HERE"
- "WHAT IS YOUR GAME? SPEAK UP! I'LL STAND FOR NO MINING OF WORDS, I WANT FACTS"
- "FACTS?—WELL—I WANTED THIS BIRD AND I GENERALLY GET WHAT I WANT"
- "LISTEN, BIG BOY—THAT WHIFFLE HEN WILL STAY WITH NOBODY BUT ME—WHERE I GO SHE WILL FOLLOW"
- "I REALIZE THAT—BUT YOU FORGET—I NOT ONLY HAVE BERNICE—HA! I HAVE YOU ALSO!"
- "WHIFFLE"
- "KIDNAPERY, EH? SO IT'S KIDNAPERY?"
- "OH, NO YOU, WONT—"
- "MR. SKUM HERE, WILL TAKE CARE OF THAT LITTLE DETAIL"
- "OF COURSE YOU UNDERSTAND THAT KEEPING ME HERE IS NOTHING SHORT OF KIDNAPERY"
- "CALL IT THAT IF YOU LIKE BUT IF THE BIRD WILL STAY WITH NOBODY BUT YOU THEN I'LL HAVE TO HOLD YOU ALSO"
- "WHY IS THIS FUNNY LOOKIN' WHIFFLE HEN SO VALUABLE? WHAT DO YOU WANT WITH HER?—OUTSIDE OF A STEW WHAT GOOD IS SHE?"
- "DO YOU THINK I'M FOOL ENOUGH TO TELL YOU THE SECRET OF THIS BIRD? NEVER—!! I AM THE KING OF DICE ISLAND, NOT A REAL KING BUT I OWN THE ISLAND AND THE LARGEST GAMBLING RESORT IN THE WORLD—THAT'S ABOUT ALL I'LL TELL YOU"
- "HOW ARE YOU GOING TO KEEP ME HERE? I THINK I'LL LEAVE THIS APARTMENT RIGHT NOW"
- "I HAVE NO RHEUMATISM!"
- "I'M WORKING FOR MR. FADWELL, THE GAMBLER—ONE OF MY DUTIES IS TO HELP KEEP YOU HERE"
- "MY EMPLOYER HAS RHEUMATISM AND IT IS HARD FOR HIM TO MOVE ABOUT"
- "YES—I'M ALMOST HELPLESS"
- "IN THAT CASE YOUR SIZE DON'T MEAN A THING—I'M NOT AFRAID OF ANY BIG CHEESE WITH RHEUMATISM—AND I'M GONNA KNOCK YA ONE"
- "I HAVE NO RHEUMATISM!"

SAYS BOY COULD NOT HAVE SHOT HIMSELF

Coroner Disagrees with Sheriff in Death of Grand Rapids Youth

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 5.—Orvin H. Hoover, 17, a quiet, manly high school boy, shot and killed Joseph Skablanek, 35, because he had sold the boy's liquor. The young Hoover could not have shot himself afterwards, Coroner H. Wolfe declared today.

Myrtle Skablanek, 25, Joe's wife, was the only other person in the house at the time of the shooting, and she may have again. Orvin, after the death of her husband, the coroner asserted.

Although the woman was released last night by Sheriff Byron J. Patterson after an all-day grilling, she was to be brought in again today for further questioning.

The woman told Sheriff Patterson the youth had come to her house soon after midnight yesterday and had hammered and kicked on the door until he was admitted. Then, she said, he shot Joe and turned the gun on himself.

Sheriff Patterson maintains that Corbin shot Skablanek while in a mental fury because the Lithuanian had sold the elder Hoover liquor and then had committed suicide.

The coroner, however, disagreeing with the suicide theory, declared the bullet which killed the youth had penetrated his heart and lodged on the right side of the spine. It could not have been fired by a right-handed person, he said, and Orvin was right-handed.

GETS OPINIONS

Morrow County Clerk Receives Ruling from Higher Court

MT. GILEAD, Jan. 5.—Opinions of the court of appeals that convinced here recently have been received by Clerk T. A. Campbell relative to two cases considered by the court while here.

The following opinion was made in the case of E. D. Russell against Ralph Russell and others. "Judgment affirmed, exceptions." Judgment was reversed in the case of A. W. Simpson against J. W. Barry and others for the reason that the verdict rendered was against the manifest weight of the evidence in the case and the judgment on the verdict is inconsistent with the verdicts in the case. The case was remanded to the lower court for further proceedings according to law. This case involved a race horse that died. The question in law was that of ownership.
